

The Rotten Apple Meets the Dirty South

September 14th 2015 — fusing together the raw grittiness of the “dirty” south with the rugged realness of the rotten apple, the result, “DirtyRotten”. Founded by underground Hip Hop movement and BX native Joe Stu and the North Carolina born and bred, Dungeon Family member “ShredTVT”, DirtyRotten is representative of Hip Hop’s birth place mixed with the dirty grit of the South.

Stu describes DirtyRotten as “Dirty riding music, reminiscence of the Hip Hop’s Golden Era”. Unlike the music that dominates the airwaves now, which lack content and lyrical skill, DirtyRotten prides’ themselves on their high caliber lyrics and willingness to tackle social issues. With tracks such as “Never Sale”, that describes the plight and challenges of being an independent artist and “Property Value” which take a look at the foreclosure rate and its effects on communities; DirtyRotten is not afraid to take listeners and fans on a trip back to Hip Hop’s roots.

Fueled by the talent to package real life and awareness in eloquent flows, true hip hop aficionados will agree, DirtyRotten is the essence of what birthed Hip Hop.

About Joe Stu

Repping the Boogie Down Bronx, the multi-talented Joe Stu became acquainted with hip hop as a youngster and his love grew and deepen over the years. Not impressed by the façade of money and flash that is so glamorized; Joe Stu is your “blue collar” artist. His movement in the Southeast continues to expand and captivate audiences. <http://www.joestu.com/>

About ShredTVT

The Atlanta-based, North Carolina-born emcee known as Shred The Verbal Tongue, is a hip hop artist whose writing skills have been likened to Nas.
